

Stan Marcus, born in Michigan and educated in Michigan and Ohio, has lived in Tompkins County since 1973, 12 years in the Town of Ithaca, 15 years in the Town of Lansing; and, since 2000, he has resided with his wife, Virginia and stepson, Tom, in the Town of Dryden. After graduating from the University of Michigan in 1963, Stan taught Junior High math and science for three years. He then left to do graduate work at Ohio State University, obtaining his Ph.D. in Science Education in 1973. From 1973 to 2002, Stan directed the Freshman Chemistry laboratory program at Cornell University. While there, he published a number of laboratory manuals, served as faculty advisor to Alpha Chi Sigma Chemistry Fraternity, served as Vice-President, President, Alternate Councilor and Councilor in the Cornell Section of the American Chemical Society, ran a TA Training Program for incoming graduate students, and co-directed several Materials Science Workshops for teachers. Stan's hobbies and interests include training and racing Trottingbred ponies and making improvements in his "gentleman's farm" on Yellow Barn Road.
